Decision On Gold Seen As Aid To New Deal Monetary Plans

Administration Is Gratified By Gold Decision

Court Action Gives Congress Almost Unchallenged Power In Monetary System

PRESIDENT ALSO HIGHLY PLEASED

Close Decision Of Court Regarded As Unusual Victory For Government

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The administration and congress today emerged from the great legal battle over the gold clause with almost unchallenged power to rule the nation's monetary system.

The high court's rulings, legal experts said, removes all obstacles to further devaluation of the dollar, international stabilization or other drastic changes in the monetary system.

While the constitution gave congress power to coin money and regulate the value of the dollar, innumerable legal disputes have arisen over the extent of the power. A new path has been charted by the high court.

Administration Pleased
The historic 5 to 4 decision, described by Attorney-General Cummings as a "100 per cent victory for the government," was received with enthusiasm by the administration.

Even President Roosevelt let it be known he was pleased with the result.

The high court, in two cases, held that the law enacted by congress abrogating the gold clause in private bonds was constitutional. The effect was to save private business from an estimated $50,000,000,000 premium on $75,000,000,000 of bonds.

Holders of gold clause bonds had demanded a 69 per cent premium because of gold devaluation.

Can't Collect Premium
The high court also found that holders of gold certificates and government gold bonds could not collect the 69 per cent premium, thus saving the government from a premium payment variously estimated from eight to twelve billions of dollars.

The court held that in abrogating the gold clause in Liberty Bonds, congress had broken a contract in violation of the federal constitution. But at the same time it found that

Civic Orchestra Concert For Public On Thursday

Both classic and popular music will have a place on the program Thursday evening, February 21, when the New Castle Civic Orchestra presents a concert in the Senior High School auditorium. There will be no admission charged, neither will there be any collections nor offerings taken.

For several weeks the orchestra has been under way, sponsored by the Emergency Educational Relief, and with Director Harry Hammond and Conductor J. V. Sypher at the helm the orchestra has developed remarkably fast. Every one of the members is a local musician who knows his own instrument thoroughly and the combination of the twenty musicians is a pleasing effect.

Civic orchestras have a three fold effect, the development of self expression, the development of appreciation and the rehabilitation of those musicians and teachers of music temporarily unemployed.

Thursday night New Castle will see for itself just what sort of orchestra has been developed. The program promises a treat and the audience can be assured there will be no charge for anything.

Fox Charged With Failure To Render Aid

Is Held For Court Following Hearing And Inquest Last Evening

CORONER PROBES PATTISON DEATH

Following the inquest last night into the circumstances surrounding the death of Charles A. Pattison, of R. F. D. No. 2, on February 12, George Fox, of 205 Bluff street, was held for court in $500 bail on a charge of failing to stop and render assistance, by Alderman James C. Brice.

At the inquest, held before Coroner Potter in Alderman Brice's court, the jury rendered a verdict that Mr. Pattison came to his death as a result of being struck by a motor vehicle, and that in the opinion of the jury, it was possible that the injuries had been inflicted by the truck driven by Fox.

A number of witnesses were examined in the case. The family of Mr. Pattison and Fox were represented by legal counsel, while District Attorney Mont Almy represented the Commonwealth.

Tells Of Injuries
George Morrow, local undertaker, who prepared the body of Mr. Pattison for burial, testified that Mr. Pattison was dead when he arrived at the scene of the fatality. His body was lying along the road at a point about 100 feet this side of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company's repeater station, on the Youngstown road.

An examination later revealed a compound fracture of the skull; right side of the chest was crushed; there was a hole at the corner of the right eye; the lower jaw was broken; the right arm was broken above the wrist; a bad gash above the left eye; and there was a bruise on the front of the right hip.

James N. Speed, of 506 Sampson street, who is employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, at Sharon, stated that he was enroute to his work on the morning of February 12, and was following a row of machines, when he noticed what he thought to be a body, lying along the roadside, just this side of the repeater station. He drove on past to the road, where he turned his machine and came back to the scene, parking his car in the driveway at the repeater station.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Relief and satisfaction were felt all over Europe today at the supreme court's support of the American administration's monetary policy.

Immediate effects were seen in the strength of American stocks in London, Paris, and Berlin, and the evident acceleration of the repatriation movement of millions of dollars of American balances that had been invested on this side of the Atlantic during the period of uncertainty.

Situation Unchanged
Even this flow of money back to the United States, however, failed to retard the reaction in foreign exchange, where the American dollar lost another half cent, being quoted at $4.89 to the pound.

As far as foreign trade is concerned, the situation remains unchanged. (Continued On Page Fifteen)

Says Kennamer Perfectly Sane

Alienist Asserts Youth Was Rational And Not Insane

GIVES TESTIMONY FOR PROSECUTION

(International News Service)
COURTROOM, PAWNEE, Okla., Feb. 19.—After exchanging "soulful" courtroom glances with Virginia Wilcox, the "girl of his dreams," Phil Kennamer heard himself called perfectly sane and fully capable of knowing right from wrong when he killed John Gorrell.

The romantic youth told the jury trying him for Gorrell's killing that he shot only when convinced Gorrell was going to kidnap Virginia and try to collect $20,000 from her father.

Dr. G. W. Robinson, alienist for the prosecution, testified today as the state opened rebuttal testimony that Phil was rational, able to distinguish right from wrong and sane when he shot Gorrell to death last Thanksgiving night as they rode in an automobile in a Tulsa snowstorm.

"He was sane then and did know right from wrong," declared Dr. Robinson, who was formerly in charge of the insane hospital at Nevada, Mo., and during the World War handled mental cases at a base hospital in France.

Forty Applicants For Citizenship

W. C. McDougall Of Pittsburgh Is Holding Examinations At Court House

Examination of forty applicants for naturalization was taken up at the court house this morning by W. C. McDougall, of the naturalization department at Pittsburgh. Each applicant takes about ten minutes.

The forty applicants are persons who filed their papers two years ago, and this is the first examination. The final will be held before the court in May.

Each applicant is accompanied by two witnesses who are asked how long they have known the applicant, and whether or not he has conducted himself or herself in a proper manner. There are several women on the list.

The examination as to qualifications is pretty much the same for all applicants. They are asked regarding the different branches of the national, state and county government. Also the names of the president, governor and state senators. All of them were able to tell who is president, but some of them fell down on naming the governor and state senators. All are asked why we celebrate the fourth of July.

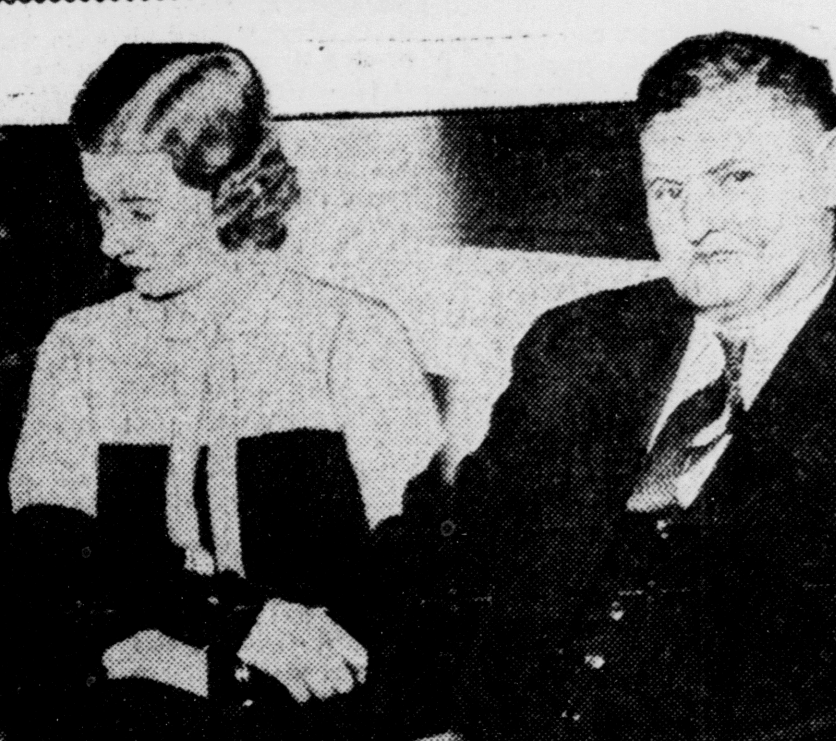

In addition the applicants must tell whether or not they have ever been arrested, and if so, the nature and disposition of the case. They are also asked if they have affiliation with any communistic organization and are willing to support the government of the United States.

Reilly Or Fisher Must Withdraw As Hauptmann Counsel

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Edward J. Reilly, chief of defense counsel for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, convicted slayer of the Lindbergh baby, declared today that either he or C. Lloyd Fisher, Flemington attorney, and confidant of the former Bronx carpenter, must get out of the famous case.

When informed that Fisher had criticized Reilly's defense of Hauptmann after a conference with the prisoner in the death house at Trenton State penitentiary yesterday, Reilly said:

"Either Fisher gets out of this case, or I get out. I am sick and tired of all this fooling around. I am tired of Fisher's double crossing. I saw Mrs. Hauptmann a few hours ago and I know she's with me. But I want a showdown. Let Anna Hauptmann and Bruno visit each other without any lawyers and then let us see who will stay in this case and who will get out."

Reilly said his plan to delay the appeal of Hauptmann's conviction which evoked Fisher's outburst yesterday was based on "the gentlemanly practice of law" and did not jeopardize Hauptmann's interests whatever.

Office Workers Watching Strike

Await Definite Word That New York Elevator Strike Has Been Settled

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Anxious New York's thousands of office workers waited today for word that a definite settlement had been reached in the strike of metropolitan elevator operators.

Fearful lest the walkout paralyze the city's business life, Mayor F. H. La Guardia yesterday forced a temporary truce upon officials of the building service employees union and early today was still striving manfully to bring the operators and their employers to a permanent settlement.

Are Deadlocked
From City Hall, where the mayor was in conference with representatives of the real estate men and union leaders came word that the negotiations were deadlocked.

About 5,000 members of the Union which is said to have a total membership of 18,000 left their jobs yesterday, but returned to work when the mayor effected the truce.

Their leaders threaten to call them out again today, however, if no permanent settlement can be reached. Meanwhile the entire fire department membership of 7,000 was ordered to hold itself in readiness to man the elevators in the key buildings of Manhattan if a walk-out occurs again.

MAY START BOND CONVERSION CAMPAIGN

Gold Rulings Provide Way

Liberty Bonds Outstanding May Be Replaced By New Issues

MANY BONDS ARE SOON COMING DUE

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Fortified by the supreme court's gold rulings, the administration may start a huge bond conversion campaign.

This was disclosed today by a high official after a conference in which the fiscal and legal experts of the new deal canvassed the effect of the court's rulings and the possibilities it opens for future action.

With $14,500,000,000 in government securities containing the gold clause and $5,100,000,000 in Liberty bonds outstanding—as found by the supreme court—the conversion program would call for eventual surrender of all. They would be replaced by other bonds.

As long as the gold cases were under consideration and there was a possibility that Liberty bondholders could claim a 69 per cent premium, fiscal experts said, a bond conversion program was hopeless.

There remained the possibility that some Liberty bondholders might try to retain them indefinitely in the hope that, since the high court held that congress stepped beyond its proper bounds in abrogating the gold clause, they might collect a premium.

Even though this hope was said by high officials to be impossible of realization, a bond conversion may offer slight inducement to bondholders to accept other issues.

With many of the bonds issued under the war-time acts coming due in the next few years, the treasury, it is said, wants to replace them with new 20-year issues.

The gold abrogation law, which was before the high court, prohibits issuance of bonds with a promise to pay in gold in the future.

Thus, unless another congress or administration repeals the law, the gold clause question will not rise again.

Nobleman Happy As Canada Farmer

(International News Service)
EDMONTON—Happy and contented on his Alberta farm, Canada's transplanted farmer-nobleman, the Earl of Egmont, 20, today prefers life in the open to the existence which beckons him as an active member of the House of Lords.

He said in a brief interview he has not yet made plans for visiting England or taking his seat in the British upper house. Nor does he plan to leave his farm near Midnapore, south of Calgary, to visit his ancestral mansion, Avon Castle.

His son, born last summer is "doing splendidly," he said.

ADMINISTRATION IS GRATIFIED BY GOLD DECISION

other legal legislation of congress, including gold seizure, prevented the holders of gold bonds from claiming any loss. There was, the court found, no loss. To give holders of gold bonds a 69 per cent premium, the court said, would be "an unjustified enrichment."

The rulings were especially pleasing to the administration because officials were prepared to ask for a drastic legislation to overcome an adverse decision. Then, too, new advisers admitted, an adverse decision would have been a crushing blow to the administration's prestige.

While Justice McReynolds in his dissent, declared that "the constitution as we have known it is gone," leading new dealers in and out of congress praised the decision.

Income Tax

NO 20 BAD DEBTS—YEAR IN WHICH DEDUCTIBLE

To be allowed as a deduction from gross income, a bad debt must have been determined by the taxpayer to be worthless within the taxable year for which it is claimed and, where books are kept, it also must have been charged off within the same year. The necessity for this provision is obvious. If a debt could be deducted without the requirement that it be charged off the taxpayer's books, the certainty of its worthlessness would be open to question.

Neither the taxpayer nor the Government could be certain that a debt would not be claimed more than once.

If a bad debt were allowed as a deduction, without regard to the year when it became worthless, such charges could be accumulated to be deducted in a year when there was a large income.

The burden is upon the taxpayer to show that a debt claimed as a deduction was without value during the taxable year. A statement should be attached to the return showing the propriety of any indebtedness for bad debts. If in the exercise of sound business judgment a taxpayer concludes, after making every reasonable effort to determine whether there is likelihood of recovery, that the debt is of no value, deduction for such debt is allowable. Court action as proof that the debt is worthless is not essential.

It is optional with the taxpayer, in a year prior to that in which the debt becomes wholly worthless, to take a deduction for partial loss if partial worthlessness occurs. If it can be shown that upon majority of a bond, mortgage, or note evidencing a debt it will not be paid in full, the partial loss is deductible.

New Marker At State Game Farm

Memory Of Governor And Commissioners Who Establish Farm Commemorated

NATIVE STONE USED AS BASE

Recent visitors to the Jordan State Game Farm have noticed a huge stone on the lawn near the headquarters buildings, near which there is a recent planting of hemlock, the state tree of Pennsylvania.

The stone is a native sand stone, quarried from a ledge on the farm, dressed and set by the farm employees and when set in its concrete base below the surface of the ground it extends above ground approximately seven feet and is approximately four feet wide and one and one-half feet thick. During the last week a bronze plaque, in the form of a keystone and bearing the names of the governor and members of the board of game commissioners who were in office at the time the farm was established in 1929, was placed on it. There is also an inscription calling attention that it was established by the hunters license fund.

The names appearing on the plaque are: Hon. John S. Fisher, governor; Ross Leffer, president; Jarred M. B. Reis, vice president; Dr. H. J. Donaldson, Adolf Muller, Francis H. Coffin, Richard E. Reitz, Harry C. Stackpole, and Jno. J. Slauterback, executive secretary.

The large native stone, with a background of hemlock, the state tree of Pennsylvania, and the keystone shaped plaque of cast bronze, make an appropriate and permanent marker commemorating the men who sponsored the establishment of the Jordan State Game Farm as a state enterprise in Lawrence County.

Young Slayer Is Electrocuted In Prison At Boston

Requires Four Shocks To Officially End Life Of "Tough Guy"

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Feb. 19.—The body of Alexander Kaminski, 24-year-old New Britain, Conn., killer of a Springfield jail guard, lay on a marble slab at Northern Mortuary today for the usual post-electrocution autopsy, prior to funeral arrangements.

It took four shocks twisting through his body before he was pronounced dead. Kaminski's death ended a life of crime, numerous robberies in Connecticut and western Massachusetts and two escapes from jail, with flights to Lynchburg, Virginia and Albany, N. Y. It was climaxed by the fatal slaying of Merritt Hayden, Hampden county jail guard. Kaminski left $250 each and letters urging repentance to his brother John, serving 23½ to 25 years in state's prison, and their pal, Paul Wargo, lifer.

he found that his suspicions were confirmed and that the body was that of a man. He went to the repeater station to call the highway patrol, but was unable to get in, and then went to the home of Ed. Winters, where he called the state highway patrol, remaining at the scene until Patrolmen Holmes and Stoops, and Coroner Potter arrived at the scene.

Speed stated that he had left his home at 7:05 and had remained at the scene of the fatality until 8 o'clock. He said he saw the marks of where a car had come along the road, the tires about foot and a half off the roadway. These tracks stopped near the driveway into the repeater station, as if the driver had put on the brakes.

John Pattison, who lives in the second house west of the repeater station, and was a cousin of Charles A. Pattison, stated that he was attracted by a crowd about the scene of his cousin's death and went there. This was about 7:30. He said he was unable to recognize that the victim was his cousin at that time. Nick Speed and a Mr. Coblenz were there.

He told of finding Mr. Pattison's hat in the field about 12 feet away from where the body was lying. The hat was in the snow of where the body had evidently rolled along the ground after being struck the heel of Mr. Pattison's shoe, which had been knocked off when he was struck, and buttons from his coat.

Patrolman Called
He stated that he and his cousin often walked into town together, on their way to work, and in reply to a question about the customary way in which they walked along the roadway, stated that they generally walked on the concrete, but got off the highway when cars came along, the beam being covered with crushed limestone and the walking being agreeable.

Highway Patrolman W. E. Stoops told of being called to the Youngstown road on the morning of February 12, about 7:10, arriving there with Patrolmen Holmes and Coroner Potter, shortly after 7:30.

He told of the position of the body, which was lying in a north and south position, the head towards the road, and the body from the waist down, over the bank. He told of the various articles of Mr. Pattison's being found, including his spectacles, with the right lens broken out. The watch the deceased had stopped at 6:27, indicating that this was the time he had been struck.

He testified to the marks made by a machine which had left the highway at the house this side of the repeater station and paralleled the road for about 200 feet, stopping just this side of the A. T. and T. building driveway. These marks were made by single tires, it was stated. The man's head seemed to have been moved, as there was a pool of blood six or eight inches from where the head rested, when he got there, he stated.

Examined Truck
They did not learn anything at the highway patrol station of how Mr. Pattison might have received his injuries until that evening, when Mr. Fox came in and made a report of having struck Mr. Pattison. This was after 9 o'clock that evening.

He said he went to Fox's home and examined the truck, which was a Chevrolet with stake body. The body of the truck projected out six inches from the front fender and running board. There was a fresh crack on the bottom board on the front side of the body. There were little chips out of the fourth board up. On the stake, just behind there were deep scratches, and what appeared to be bits of flesh, and an oval mark. These marks were approximately five feet from the front of the truck. There was a smeared mark behind the stake, and what appeared to be the marks of flesh.

Patrolman Holmes told of the marks at the scene of the accident. He stated that the marks made by the automobile tire testified to, came over the top of the brush marks made in the snow by the body of Mr. Pattison after he was struck.

He told of Mr. Fox reporting being involved in an accident on the Youngstown road that morning. He was accompanied to the highway patrol station by his father, and his employer, Robert M. Wilson.

He said that Fox had stated he was driving along the road, heard a noise as of a can dropping off the truck, stopped and went back to the stake, and saw the body of a man lying there. He said that he reached down and touched it, and then became frightened and went back and got into the truck and drove away.

He said Fox had admitted being out the night before at the Post Office lunch until one or two o'clock, had drunk three or four bottles of beer at the Post Office lunch, and said he had gotten to bed about 3 o'clock that morning.

Employer Testifies
Robert M. Wilson, Fox's employer, testified to the fact that Fox had stopped at his home on Ridge avenue about 6:25 that morning and had inquired if he had any special instructions for him, and had then left on his duties of collecting milk from farmers in Folski, and Union townships, in Lawrence county, and Shenango township in Mercer county.

He said that Fox had reported the incident of the morning to him about 8 o'clock that evening, at which time he insisted that it be reported to the state highway patrol and went with him when this was done. He said he had seen the truck during the morning and did not notice anything out of the way about it.

He stated that the rear wheels of the truck were dual type, and had a tire 32 by six inches in size. He said that it was not uncommon for cans to fall off the truck.

Fox Testifies
George Fox was the last witness summoned. He said he had been employed by Mr. Wilson as a driver for the past 18 months. He left home about 6:20, stopping at Wilson's home and then continued on his route. Just after leaving the three-lane traffic of the road, he said he heard a sound as of a milk can falling off. He continued on until he reached the spot where the road is concreted in to the property of the American Telegraph Company, where he stopped. He was looking for the can, he stated, and noticed a dark object along the road. It was the body of a man, he said. He reached down and touched it on the shoulder. He became frightened then, and went back and got into the truck and drove away.

On cross examination, he stated that when he reported the incident to the state highway patrol, that he had said he had seen the body of the man along the road that morning and didn't know whether he had hit him or not, but thought not. He had been afraid to report the incident until that evening for fear of being accused of striking the man.

He said he had not learned the man was dead until he read the paper that evening sometime after 4 o'clock. He told his father about the incident first.

The weather was cold and clear, but it was dark when he reached the spot where the body of Mr. Pattison was found. One could distinguish houses along the road, he said. Four or five cars passed him in a row at this point.

He admitted he had been out until two o'clock that night before and had drunk perhaps three bottles of beer.

He stated that he positively had not seen anyone walking along the road. He admitted that he had not known whether the man was living or dead, and could only explain his actions in leaving the scene by the fact that he was frightened.

At the conclusion of the inquest, charges of failure to stop and render assistance was made by Patrolman Holmes, which carries one of the severest penalties of any violation of the motor code, and Fox was held for court in the sum of $500 bail, to await the action of the March grand jury.

The coroner's jury was composed of J. F. Meehan, John J. Daugherty, James Cooper, C. E. Allen, Ronnger Benson, and Earl J. Moffatt.

The date of the argument against the conviction before the Court of Errors and Appeals was set for March 28.

The Chancellor's order, which the defense attorneys obtained next, sends the appeal directly to the Court of Last Resort in New Jersey, the Court of Errors and Appeals.

The Court of Errors and Appeals is comprised of the nine supreme court justices of New Jersey, six lay members and the chancellor. Supreme Court Justice Trenchard, the trial judge in the Hauptmann case, is a member of the court. As is customary, he will not sit when the case over which he presided comes before the court for review.

State To Meet Expense
Trenton, N. J., Feb. 19.—Paving the way for an appeal, Supreme Court Justice Thomas W. Trenchard today granted the petition of attorneys for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, convicted Lindbergh baby slayer, to place upon the state expenses of printing the trial record.

First Move Made
Trenton, N. J., Feb. 19.—First move in Bruno Richard Hauptmann's legal fight to escape the New Jersey death-chair for the murder of baby Lindbergh was taken today. C. Lloyd Fisher and Frederick Pope, members of Hauptmann's defense counsel, called at the office of Supreme Court Justice Thomas W. Trenchard to present a "pauper's petition" declaring Hauptmann penniless and asking the state to bear the cost of an appeal.

Edward J. Reilly, chief of defense counsel who has flung the dart that either Fisher or he must withdraw from the case, did not accompany the other attorneys. It was said, however, that he had left his Brooklyn office to come to Trenton, but at Reilly's office a clerk said Reilly had not been heard from thus far today.

Fisher paused outside the office of Justice Trenchard, who pronounced the death sentence on Hauptmann, to renew his feud with Reilly. "Reilly has impeded us from the very beginning," said Fisher. "He has impeded us with such statements as that he would produce the kidnapers and name them from the witness stand."

REILLY OR FISHER MUST WITHDRAW

March 18 for the murder of the Lindbergh baby. Fisher, if he can establish that Hauptmann is penniless, hopes to compel the state of New Jersey to pay for the cost of printing a transcript of Hauptmann's trial, which is necessary for an appeal from the conviction.

When Fisher learned yesterday that Edward J. Reilly, Hauptmann's chief of defense during the trial, planned to delay action on the appeal until Attorney General David T. Wilentz returned from a vacation in Florida, he became bitter in his criticism of the Brooklyn attorney's handling of the case.

"There's no sense to this," he said. "It will be a job to get that record and get it printed in time now, and our man will be dead and buried in his grave before we get it if we were to follow Reilly's suggestion."

Fisher produced a letter signed by Hauptmann authorizing him to proceed at once with an appeal in procuring a transcript of the trial.

SPLENDID ADDRESS FOR GUEST PROGRAM

Guest Day of the New Castle Women's club Monday afternoon in Highland U. P. church, was featured by a most interesting address on "China and Glassware," by C. L. Reizenstein of Pittsburgh, who was introduced by Mrs. H. L. Gormley, chairman of the program committee.

The speaker illustrated his talk with two moving pictures which showed the making of glass from its origin to the finished product. He traced its early accidental discovery to the Phoenicians, back several hundred years B. C. Then its development up to present day high standard of beauty and quality. He explained the necessity for today's prices, dependent upon workmanship. He had with him a handsome display of various exquisite, and rare pieces of china and glassware, exhibited on a long table, covered with a lovely Italian cut work linen cover. As a result of Mr. Reizenstein's address some 200 women, who filled the assembly room and balcony of Highland church, have a keener appreciation of quality tableware than heretofore. H. C. Warner assisted the speaker with slides, adding much interest and pleasure to the entertainment and instruction period.

Previous to the main feature of the afternoon, the president, Mrs. A. H. Davis, presided over a business session, during which splendid reports of the year's accomplishments and future activities were heard.

Speaking for the various departments, Mrs. C. R. Brownman reported for Americanism; Mrs. W. E. J. Beal, American Home; Mrs. H. E. Sawdy, Conservation; Mrs. Gail Blum, Education; Mrs. A. H. Davis, substituting for Mrs. Harry Urmon. Fine Arts; Mrs. G. W. Short, substituting for Mrs. R. S. Tannehill. International Relations; Mrs. S. E. Crawford, Junior Department; Mrs. Lewis Kohn, Legislative; Mrs. A. H. Davies and Mrs. S. W. Perry, Welfare work. In all the reports the object of the club, namely, "Mutual aid and co-operation of the members in these various departments" was demonstrated as most progressive.

During a brief intermission, after the president extended a welcome to new members and guests the assembly sang that familiar melody, "Love's Old Sweet Song" under the direction of Mrs. D. Duff Scott, with Mrs. Paul A. Welsh at the piano.

For the next meeting, on March 4, an evening program will be presented in the Highland church by the Junior Women's Club.

LUNCHEON-PLAYLET ENJOYED BY CIRCLE '91

Clever favors, combining the traditional cherry tree and hatchet motif, marked each place at the one o'clock luncheon held in Highland U. P. church on Monday, by members of the Circle of '91. Red candles, in crystal holders, and small trees with red foliage, added further charm to the tables and each course of a most delicious menu was made more interesting by various patriotic details.

After luncheon, little Barbara Wilson opened the program by singing two groups of songs, appearing in a dainty old-fashioned hat and dress for the second group. Her mother, Mrs. Howard Wilson, presided at the piano. Next, the attention of the audience was directed toward the platform where, around a table set for breakfast, a cast of characters from the high school dramatic class presented a comedy called "The First Meal".

Joseph Fisher directed the skit with Helen Bauman, Bob Brown, Mildred Carson, Viola Dufford, Bill Greer and Jean Casselman portraying the various members of a family. The attempt of the father of the group, played by Bob Brown, to reform his wife and children in table etiquette provided much merriment before he was compelled to admit defeat.

P. B. G. Club
P. B. G. Club will be entertained Thursday evening, at the home of Miss Stella Cwynar, Wilder avenue. The last meeting was with Miss Mary Krupa, of Moravia street, who provided a delightful evening of contests after the usual business session.

A number of nice gifts and many greeting cards were received by Mr. and Mrs. Jones to commemorate the affair.

Plans are complete for the evening bridge party to be held Thursday evening in the New Castle Field Club, over which Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Flester will preside as hosts.

Play will begin at 8:30 o'clock, with prizes to be given those successful in winning honors. The serving of lunch, will mark the close of the evening.

Nameless Bridge Club
On Monday evening members of the Nameless Bridge club enjoyed a Colonial Party in the home of Miss Lucille Moore, Moody avenue.

Two tables of contract were in play, with tallies and score pads carrying quaint silhouettes, reminiscent of other days, and tied with tricolor silken cords. Mrs. Robert Houk won the high score award.

Mrs. P. Charles Daugherty, of Sharon, was a special guest. At conclusion of play, the hostess was assisted in serving a delicious "George Washington" lunch by her father, T. C. Moore.

In two weeks the club will meet with Miss Marian Rose Randall.

At Womer Home
At the home of Mrs. W. A. Womer, on Highland avenue, Monday evening, the regular meeting of the S. E. B. class of the First M. E. church, was held with Mrs. W. P. Felch and Miss Helen Moseley joint hostesses.

THE GOLD DECISION

WHILE there may be many and various reflections upon the momentous decisions made by the United States Supreme Court yesterday on what are termed the gold cases, the one fundamental thing that will follow in the wake of the decisions is that the uncertainty which has been in evidence throughout the business and financial world should be overcome.

The supreme court has spoken on the most far reaching problem that has been put before it in many years, as far as business, finance and government financing are concerned. The air is cleared. There now appears to be little more in the way to cloud the atmosphere.

Despite the fact that the decisions were by a 5-4 verdict of the justices of the supreme court, nevertheless the decision is final. Action of the government in the new monetary program has been sustained. Impetus to industry, business and finance should result from the decision, and the settlement of this long pending uncertainty. Recovery should get a real boost.

POLICE WITH WINGS

As long as the former Allies of the World War continue to work together there is, theoretically at least, no harm in the rather curious aviation agreement between France and England to wink at Germany's rearming. Henceforth, it is obvious, the guardianship of peace in Europe must be entrusted to wings. Yet, though it is common knowledge that Germany right now probably could put 1,000 planes of all kinds into the air, the delight of the French people over the Anglo-French pact still may be understood.

France has a fleet at home and abroad of more than 1,600 planes of all categories. But a large percentage of the number are obsolete. Britain has a force of about 750 planes, more than half of which are fighting craft. Italy has 420 fighting planes and 350 bombers among a total of nearly 1,200—not to mention the fleets of Belgium, Portugal, Greece and lesser allies.

Hence, France sees that the combined Allied fleets would far outstrip Germany's present output of planes, the while most of the Allied nations are marking appropriations for increased air service and have already developed strong forces of aviators available instantly for war service.

Thus, theoretically, it is assumed that two or three air forces are stronger than one, provided good generalship in directing them prevails. Here, then, is the delight of the French people in the pact.

But this situation brings about an air race comparable to the naval race that the world would like to avoid. What is still to be secured, besides assurance of peace in Europe, is the elimination of national rivalry in air strength.

IT MAY BE FALSE HOPE

Two scientists, Dr. W. H. Wright of the Department of Agriculture, and Dr. E. D. McAllister of the Smithsonian Institution, have discovered rays which may be used to prolong life. In certain wave lengths these waves, it is said, will deal out death to destructive bacteria and parasites which prey upon the human system.

Most persons want to live as long as possible, and any discovery which would prolong life would be hailed as the greatest ever made in the history of this world. Personally we hope it comes within our time. But though expectations are somewhat aroused by the scientists' announcement, it will not be wise to permit them to climb too high lest they be dashed to the ground. It is a certainty, however, that if these waves can be controlled they will be utilized by medical science, in time, to combat the ravages of disease, and that, of course, would mean longer life for humanity.

OUR FLEET IN THE PACIFIC

Ever since it was announced that the spring maneuvers of the United States Navy would be held in the Pacific there have been excited cries of protest against offending Japan. The secretary of the Navy's reply to them is clear and convincing. He points out that our ships will not go within 200 miles of Japan. The area of operations will be wholly in the Eastern Pacific, with their center in Hawaii. Whether or not this is a gentle hint to Japan, it is no hostile gesture.

The latest plans of defense contemplate the protection of all our interests in the Pacific. Japan has no reason to resent them unless she has designs against us. It would be a craven thing to abandon the maneuvers out of regard for Japanese sensibilities.

NOT MUCH USE, BUT—

The Great Pyramid of Gizeh, the tomb of Cheops, was planned and built by its ancient Egyptian engineers and workmen about 5,000 years ago with such mathematical exactness that the errors in its sides are less than a little finger's breadth in length and angle in a total length of 755 feet. About six million tons of stone were used in erecting this mighty monument. Herodotus tells us that 100,000 men labored for twenty years in building it.

Now here is a suggested method for the S. E. R. A. to furnish employment.

If only those who have brains enough, to lead us had charm enough to make us believe it.

GROUCHINESS IS A HABIT TO BE AVOIDED

Are you allowing cranky, irritable spells to grow on you?
Or are you making a successful effort to control your temper?
Being "out of sorts" is largely a habit.

Often the manner is adopted to make the victim more subservient. This is frequently true in homes where it is desired to keep the family more or less in awe of the one in authority.

For the sake of peace and to avoid argument and angry outbursts, members of a family will often endeavor not to displease.
Always one individual's comfort must be considered, even though the whole household must be discommoded.

Usually the grouchy member of the family is the husband.
Breakfast time is the most common hour for bad temper to be displayed.

Thereafter clouds hang over the home.

Even those who spend the day elsewhere cannot get over the gloom of an early morning encounter with a nagging or quicktempered disturber of the peace.

The man of the house whose departure is welcomed is wrong in spirit.

The woman of the house, from whom all ill in resentment, starts her family off in quarrelsome moods that breed trouble.

If you value a peaceful home, reflect kindness.

The World War 20 Years Ago

By Clark Kinnaird, Author Of Today Is The Day

Berlin announced a second Tannenberg and the capture of 40,000 Russians, 20 years ago this week.

For three months Russians and German forces had faced each other inside the eastern frontier of East Prussia, along that intricate tangle of water known as the Masurian Lakes. West of this obstacle in September, Samsonoff had suffered his great disaster at Tannenberg and then had gone into the woods and shot himself.

In mid-February 1915 the Russians undertook to turn the Germans out of their strong position behind the lakes, and with their superior numbers to cut toward vital Koenigsberg. They attacked from north and south, that is, by coming in on the flanks. At the outset the Russian move met with apparent success.

Hindenburg countered with a terrific blow south of the Vistula and let the news get to the Russians that he was making a new drive for Warsaw. The drive was checked and Petrograd announced a victory, describing the slaughter in these fights as the greatest in the war.

Quickly, however, the truth became painfully apparent to the Russians. These German attacks south of the Vistula and along the Bzura-Rawka front were mere screening movements to cover the withdrawal of troops to East Prussia. By the massed use of automobiles, by again employing the strategic railways along the East Prussian frontier which had been built so many years before for just such a purpose, the Germans rushed overwhelming forces into East Prussia, beat the Russian flanking force between the Nieman and the Angerapp, and redeemed all their eastern frontier, except an unimportant little corner. Four entire Russian divisions were enveloped and captured in the Augustovka forests.

Meanwhile, a British and French fleet was hammering at the Dardanelles, which by coincidence the British had been engaged in forcing exactly 106 years before. The Russian commander Grand Duke Nicholas had appealed to the British war minister, Kitchener, for some measure of relief. The Dardanelles, Russia's army in the Caucasus, Kitchener couldn't provide troops, and suggested a naval demonstration against the Dardanelles.

Twenty years ago this week a powerful fleet had assembled, including the newest British super-dreadnaught, Queen Elizabeth. The islands of Tenedos and Lemnos, near the entrance to the Dardanelles, had been occupied, and the bay of Mudros, in the latter island, made the principle base of operations.

On February 17, H. M. S. Triumph accompanied by several destroyers, began the naval operations against the Turkish forts. Destroyers made dashes to within a thousand yards of the batteries guarding the entrance without being challenged. The Allied fleet's commanders did not know it, but the Turkish forts were virtually without ammunition!

The Allies did discover that their ship's guns outranged those of the fort so far that the ships could anchor off shore in perfect security and bombard the forts as safely as if at target practice. It looked immediately as if Constantinople would be in Allied hands within a few days.

Constantinople's residents thought so, too. The Austrian ambassador had his railroad tickets. The German ambassador made arrangements to store his valuables at the U. S. embassy. Banks sent their gold away. Women and children left by trainloads and shiploads daily.

Constantinople lay within the grasp of the Allied fleet. The Dardanelles could have been opened, the Turkish Empire cut in two, Russia secured with armaments and Bulgaria, Greece and Roumania herded into the Allied cause. The Central Powers would have had to give up within a year, completely surrounded.

THEIR CHOICE
"Just think children," said the missionary. "In Africa, there are six million square miles, where little boys and girls have no Sunday School. Now, what should we all strive to save money for?"
"To go to Africa!" cried a chorus of cheery voices.

When a defunct bank pays back a meager share of the money entrusted to it by its depositors, they announce it as a dividend. A dividend always sounds better than to say the bank is paying a part of the debt it owes depositors.

After checking his goods carefully, the agent made his report: "Short, one bureau; over, one jackass."

When Dad was a boy, a girl needed plenty of "will" power, but now that son is starting to sow his wild oats, she needs "won't" power.

Most married men would go out every night, if it wasn't for the fact that they have to come back home again.

Typewriters have one drawback. They can't make a non-committal wiggle when you don't know how to spell a word.

No, aunt Susan, there's no modern recipe for frying mush. Just go about it in the old fashioned way. Suse, like your mother used to do. Cut the mush "medium," if you know what that means, neither too thick nor too thin. Place some extract of dead hog in the skillet. Turn the mush frequently until both sides are nicely browned. Serve hot with maple molasses. There may be better "eatins'", but if so we've never found 'em.

There wasn't so much beer consumed last month as there was in December, according to the state revenue department. Probably the department isn't doing its share.

HOW'S IT HOLDING OUT?
"Your father is unreasonable."
"How so?"
"He tells me not to lose sight of my objective in life and then kicks because I call on you seven nights a week."

Grove City and Mercer barbers have been having a little tilt that is dubbed, a "barbers' war." Now when the barbers go to war they don't use their razors for swords, or their shears for spears. Oh, no, they cut one-another's throats by reducing prices to their customers. It's easy on the customer and it gives the barbers a lot of satisfaction, but we don't know why.

"I hear Belle is going to marry a minister."

PROFESSIONALLY SPEAKING
Hostess: Now doctor, all the other guests have performed. Can't you do something to amuse the company?
Doctor: "Yes, I will order that last singer a month in bed."

Ministers seem to be getting away from such subjects as theology, charity, and missionary work. At a convention of pastors in a nearby state, social service committees were appointed to look into road building, electrification, reforestation, housing, grade elimination and kinddred subjects. The gathering even went so far as to recommend that churches seriously consider revaluation of their creeds and organizations. They'll likely get into some fights when they try the latter.

It's only a matter of time until every wife discovers that hugging a husband is the best way to get around him.

Hotel Manager—Really, sir? Well, of course, you may be right. I've never been in prison myself.

We were discussing fish with an East Side friend of ours, who is quite a connoisseur of fish, and has eaten perhaps more fish than any man in New Castle. In fact, he admitted he has eaten so much fish that his stomach rises and falls with the tides.

It isn't always a boy's absence that makes a girl's heart grow fonder, sometimes it is his presents.

The freight agent on one of the Western roads received a shipment, on which was a donkey, described on the freight bill as "one burro."

IT WORE OUT
"When we were first married, I used to wake my husband every morning with a kiss."

"And now?"

"After three months, he bought himself an alarm clock."

Fewer fur bearing animals were trapped last year than during the previous year, according to the state skinologist down at Harrisburg. We don't know whether this was due to lazy trappers or wiser animals, but in these days of the higher education we'd be disposed to attribute it to the latter.

What a safe world this would be, if a boy paid as much attention to the traffic lights as he does to the love lights in a girl's eyes.

Chicago thinks it is unusual that she has a girl who has been in a state of coma for four years. We know some people who have been that way all their life, right here in New Castle too.

Five million homes are needed in this country, the government finds. Maybe more of them would be built if the prospective workers on these five million homes, would agree to reasonable wages for building them.

Even dumb animals are trying publicity stunts. Down in Beaver Falls a pole sitting cat climbed to the top of a telephone pole and sat there two or three days, despite all efforts to rescue it. Firemen didn't have any ladders long enough to reach it, an policeman finally shot it. However the cat got lots of publicity, and you know a cat can always come back.

Wicked Germans! They reamed in violation of their promises merely because the Allies broke their promise to disarm.

Nations are rather polite, at that. Each one patiently awaits its turn to retaliate.

The ruling is that the boss need not employ strikers if the strike failed. In other words, he need not forgive them unless they lick him.

How useful the automobile is! But would we accept another useful invention if it promised to kill 36,000 a year?

A scheme isn't good just because it lessens employment. Poison liquor does that.

Congress has started a probe into the accident which befell the Macon. Why it is that these probes are always started after the accident has happened. There seems to be evidence that it was known that the Macon was not in good shape. Why didn't the old probe get to working then. It's the old story of locking the barn after the horse is stolen.

There are people who will throw a fit if anyone suggests a state lottery for helping welfare organizations, yet they are willing to accept the profits from the liquor business for such organizations without batting an eye. People are queer critters.

PESSIMISTIC
Trainer (encouraging his man)—What you've got to do is to stick it and go for him, and you'll come through with flying colors.
Boxer (doubtfully)—Yes! At half-mast.

Just because a man is successful, you have no right to rob him. Only Congress can do that.

Taxation never is fair. Think of having no amusement tax on a murder trial.

NOW HE KNOWS
Husband—What possessed you to choose lemon color for your new gown?
Wife—It was because I had such a job squeezing it out of you.

So you don't live on your friends? Well, how much patronage do you get from your enemies?

George Holloway of Baker, Ore., had a wife so critically ill that he could not go for a doctor who was badly needed. He wrote a note, saddled a horse, turned the horse loose and sicked his dog on it. The horse did the rest. Within an hour a traveler had read the note and brought help. The merit of the horse might be exaggerated in this case. It was the man who had the horse sense.

Americanism: Promising everybody equal opportunity to get wealth; allowing them to compete for what is left after a few families inherit most of it.

Mothers really are wonderful. Their love doesn't depend on how much they are getting.

Making incomes public will be a great help. We'll know which ones to hate most.

LOCATED
Lawyer—You say that the hens stolen are of a very special and rare breed, and that is why you are so certain they are yours. Would you be surprised to know that I have a few of that particular breed?
Prosecutor—No; I have missed a lot of them.

College education: Spending four years taking snap courses that don't require you to learn anything.

It's easy to give legal advice now. You just tell your client: "The government can't make you do it."

Scientists are men who find ways to prolong life while inventing machines to shorten it.

A RIOT CALL
The Cop—What's the trouble here?
Mrs. Borden Lodge—Just because my star boarder was good enough to tell me where I could buy chickens' necks for six cents a pound the others are mobbing him.

Quite often, it is found, that when a girl's face is her fortune, it runs into quite an attractive figure.

WONDERFUL SPIRIT
"Is your wife economical, old boy?"
"Oh, very. We do without practically everything I need."

The World At A Glance

Would Increase Relief Fund. Mussolini Move Held Strategy. Single Taxers Gaining Ground.

Central Press
New York Bureau,
235 East 45th Street
By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer
NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—While arguments are going on among conservative whether four billions are not too much to be appropriated for relief, progressives are demanding 10 billions.

Says Senator Robert F. La Follette of Wisconsin:
"The credit of the government is not in danger. Great Britain's per capita tax debt is three times as much as ours with fewer people and much fewer resources. If we are willing to be taxed there is no danger at all so far as the government's credit is concerned. It is much like a war. If that were to come tomorrow, there would be no talk about the government's credit, nor of balancing the budget."

CAPPER
Senator Arthur S. Capper of Kansas, in a quiet manner, is becoming talked of as a presidential candidate. He is a liberal conservative, whose remarks are quoted often by progressives.

For example, here is a Capper statement quoted widely:
"No one questions the necessity nor the desirability of having children brought up to take their share in the work of the home. This (child labor) amendment is aimed, not at the work children do at home, but at their exploitation in factories, mills or mines—or wherever it occurs."

MUSSOLINI STRATEGY
Observers are beginning to believe that the threats of Mussolini against Abyssinia were timed to ward off economic unrest in Italy.

The lira had been acting as if financial distress was at hand. And the chief persons called to the colors were the young men of employable age who probably were unemployed.

Thus a "patriotic" call to arms may save a dictator.
WAGNER TO BREAK?
Will Senator Robert Wagner, of New York, hither to close to the White House, break with the president if the administration opposes his labor bill? Wagner has let it be known he will push his bill to the limit.

Last year Senator Wagner permitted the administration to emasculate his bill.

This year he says:
"Employers have been given the right to organize and they have used it. Now we must give workers that same right. I consider this the most important thing that will come before Congress this session."

Senator Wagner's bill would outlaw company unions.

SLOGAN

The American Federation of Labor, making a fight on one hand against giant corporations, and on the other hand against independent worker organizations rising up against it, is getting into a fighting mood (which is contrary to its normal demeanor).

The A. F. of L's slogan may be found in an editorial in the New York Post:

"What must happen to both the automobile and cigaret industries if the $800-to-$700 annual wage be comes the new American standard? Would $700 a year workers, even with the industry's sensationally low prices and easy terms?
"What market for factory-made cigarets, even at trifling prices, to workers earning $10 a week?"
Some of the independent unions are for the direct action—as against arguments like this.

SINGLE TAXERS GAINING
As in the case when taxes mount, single taxes are gaining ground.

But men of property, while crying for relief from taxes are not eager for the single tax method.

Read this letter from Whilden Graham, a single taxer:
"The president's social security schemes—employment insurance and old-age pensions—are merely futile palliatives designed to provide some sort of charity, instead of social justice....
"So long as mankind tries to escape from the consequences of the fundamental injustice of our social order—the acquisition by the few of the land values created by all the people—so long shall we have widespread poverty and misery for the millions of the unemployed."

LINES TO A SALVATION ARMY MAN (A. S. N.)

I have heard them singing hymns on the sidewalks of the slums
I have heard them calling sinners to the beating of their drums.
I have heard them nightly pleading with the craven and the weak
To forsake their way of living and a better one to seek.

And looking mortals over in this curious worldly plan
I would choose, for earnest labors, your Salvation Army man.

Here's no cosy sheltered parson preaching sermons from a book.
Picking soft and easy cases, dodging drunk and dope and crook.
But a cleric of the gutter meeting humans at their worst
Who will seek the souls' salvation and put feet the body first.

And upon the Master's business, which is sometimes bitter grim
Does more real good with doughnuts than with any gospel hymn.

Here's a man who lives his teaching and the booming of his drum
Shows he doesn't pick and choose them but will take them as they come.

Where the most of us are willing to perform the pleasant tasks
We don't like the uglier labors which the good Lord sometimes asks.

But Salvation Army heroes try to rescue to the end
Since the lower down they've fallen it's the more men need a friend.

So here's to you, Colonel Norris and your forty years or more
Of living your religion going around from door to door
Or standing at the gutters where men's lives are swirled and tossed

In the hope that you might save one which would otherwise be lost!
You are bigger, braver, finer than the most of us, I swear.

County commissioners have finished a check of the Union township assessment books, with the result that it is found that the county has title to about 200 pieces of property, which have been sold for taxes in past years. The commissioners will now take up other townships and boroughs of the county to ascertain how much property the county really owns. It is proposed to sell this property in order that it may be again placed back on the books for taxation purposes. The county will allow any person to redeem property by paying up the back taxes.

Deputy Sheriff Elmer Taylor today mailed out notices to petit jurors to present themselves for jury duty on the second Monday of March. The grand jury meets on the first Monday. On the second Monday the regular trials of criminal cases will begin.

Home Owners Loan Corporation mortgages to the amount of about $42,798 were placed on record at the register and recorder's office last week. This is in excess of the number of mortgages placed during the previous week. Scores of property owners who had their applications in when word came to discontinue new loans until an additional appropriation had been made, are now anxiously awaiting announcement of a new appropriation. The applications which were in, and which had not reached the title examination stage when new loans were banned, will be the first to be taken up.

Attorney Rufus McKinley, president of the Lawrence County Bar association has been authorized to appoint a committee to investigate alleged illegal and unauthorized practice. The latter is understood to mean practice by persons who are not members of the bar.

Records at the office of Register and Recorder William R. Hanna, show that 67 instruments of all kinds were recorded during the past week. This is an increase from the preceding week. In the list were nineteen deeds. Some of them, however, were for properties sold at sheriff sale. There has been a noticeable pick up in the number of realty transfers of late.

In the case of the Gross Machinery company against the First National bank, Judge R. L. Hildebrand has handed down another opinion in which he finds in favor of the bank. The case was one in which the bank held a mortgage on the Mayberry Dry Cleaning plant. After the mortgage had been given Mayberry purchased some machinery from the Gross machinery company. This was purchased on a bailment contract and was installed in the plant. The question arose at the trial as to whether it was personal property, or whether, if it was attached to the building, it did not become a part of the real estate and subject to the mortgage. Under a former decision the court held in favor of the plaintiff. Exceptions were taken to the finding. In the meantime, however the Supreme court handed down a decision in the case of the Central Lithograph company against the Eatmore Chocolate company in which practically the same points were involved as in the case at issue here. In view of this decision Judge Hildebrand felt that he could not do otherwise than find in favor of the defendant, which means that the bank gets the machinery which was sold at sheriff sale with the plant.

SANDWICH PARTY ATTRACTS FIFTY

One of the most delightful parties ever given by the Queen Esther class of the Third United Presbyterian church was that of Monday night in the church dining room. It was a sandwich party and 50 members of the class, their husbands and escorts, participated. Miss Sally Rennie, of Slippery Rock, was an out-of-town guest.

In the dining room a trio comprised of William McKown, Bernard Hook and Dave Jones sang several selections. Miss Vivian Jones gave several readings, much to the pleasure of the crowd, and Dave Jones sang a vocal solo.

At this point a group of class members amusingly portrayed "The Family Album." The bride was Mrs. Fred Thompson; groom, Mrs. Wilbur McKibben; bride's parents, Pearl Colnot and Mrs. Floyd Kelley; groom's parents, Mrs. William McKown and Mrs. Paul Rinker; Aunt Eliza, Marietta Daugherty; school teacher, Katherine Hopper; Little Willie, Peg Fox; Aunt Bessie, Mrs. Charles McDermott; grandma, Mrs. Gurth Rapson; Aunt Sara, Mrs. Lloyd Wimer.

Mrs. Ed O'Neill rendered a number of vocal selections during the opening and closing of the album. Dr. S. B. Copeland, who was one of the special guests, gave a brief and enjoyable talk.

Credit for the evening party goes to Mrs. Thomas Baskerville, who had complete charge of the program, and Willard McKown, who had charge of the games. Delicious sandwiches were served cafeteria style from tables attractive in blue and white with a small log cabin as a centerpiece. Kitchen maids were Peg Fox, Pearl Colnot, Mrs. Ed O'Neill, Mrs. Dave Jones, Mrs. John Kenchan and Betty Gray.

Surprise Shower.
Miss Henrietta Chrobak was pleasantly surprised on Sunday evening, February 17, by a group of girls numbering 75 at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Chrobak, 1103 Summit street.

Later in the evening the honored guest, Miss Henrietta Chrobak, together with her fiancé, Joseph Sobash, engaged themselves busily in unwrapping the gifts which revealed many useful and attractive gifts to be used in their future home.

At an appropriate hour the luncheon was served by Misses Stella Kwolek, Helen Chrobak, Nellie Pilch, Virginia Gierlach and Helen Cwikala.

The remainder of the evening was enjoyed in dancing and social chat.

Scottish Rite Drama Will Be Given On Friday

Legion Of Honor Will Present Soul-Stirring Presentation For Consistory

SETTING LAID IN WORLD WAR

Rehearsals are being completed by the Legion of Honor of the Valley of New Castle Consistory, A. A. S. R., for the presentation of a Scottish Rite drama, at the Cathedral Friday evening, which is unlike anything ever presented before any Scottish Rite body in this state.

An no little expense, the entertainment committee of the Valley of New Castle Consistory has secured and will present through the medium of the Legion of Honor, two degrees, the 31st and 32nd, as embraced in the fabric of Scottish Rite Masonry of another Supreme Council Jurisdiction, outside the United States.

World War Setting
These degrees have been modernized and will present a World War setting.

This is an opportunity which may never again be available to members of the Valley of New Castle Consistory, and for this reason, the Cathedral is expected to be thronged by Consistory members from this and other Valleys, for this soul-stirring drama.

Admission will be granted only to Scottish Rite members, and if those seeking admission are unknown to the Tyler or not accompanied by a member who can vouch for them, it will be necessary for them to show their patent.

It is fitting that this dramatic presentation should be given by members of the Legion of Honor, because of the facts and incidents in the presentation, with which they are familiar. Commander-in-Chief John E. White states in announcing the program of the evening.

The committees in charge of the work of the evening, are as follows: William S. Lewis, commander; General committee: Howard Geary, chairman; Leon A. Drumm, W. Fulton Jackson, Edward D. Pritchard, Jay L. Reed.

Director of Work—Edward D. Pritchard.
Property, stage and costumes—W. Fulton Jackson, Jay L. Reed.

STRUTHERS' FURNACE TO RESUME BLAST

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 19.—Authorization of a $350,000 industrial loan by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to the Struthers Iron and Steel Company will mean the resumption, within six weeks, of Struthers furnace, idle for several years, and the reemployment of 250 men.

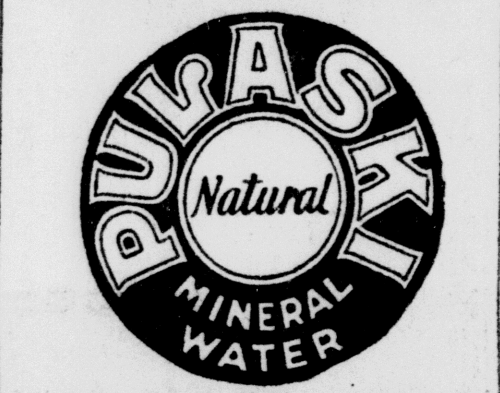

President W. C. Holzworth of the Struthers company said that the furnace will first have to be placed in shape for operation and that ore will have to be procured. The furnace property has been well kept up during the depression.

The total area of America's iron is only 76 square miles.

It is not enough to do good; one must do it in a good way.—Morley.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours, five arrests on charges of drunkenness.

There were 1,022 cases of communicable diseases reported to the city health department last year, according to the annual report of Dr. William L. Steen. They were divided as follows: mumps, 446; scarlet fever, 253; measles, 120; whooping cough, 86; chicken pox, 74; pneumonia, 28; tuberculosis, 6; diphtheria, 6 and meningitis, 6. There was no typhoid which was a splendid tribute to our city water and the constant supervision of milk sold here. No smallpox has been found here for eight years.

Howard Phillips, superintendent of the collection and disposal of garbage here, in his annual report for 1934, has informed council that very few complaints were made because of unlifted garbage and that 9,197 tons were collected and burned. Very little coal is required to operate the furnaces the plant furnishing its own fuel once the fires are started. The furnaces were repaired about a year ago and since has operated satisfactorily.

In connection with the annual report of health conditions here it might also be said that one of the duties health officer is to conduct laboratory tests. As a result examination of water taken from privately owned wells and springs is made, throat cultures examined for diphtheria and milk bottling and pasteurizing plants inspected.

Only six cases of diphtheria were found which causes one to believe that the dread disease is growing less each year by leaps and bounds. Yesterday George Montgomery, sanitary officer for the county of Lawrence, in a visit to city hall said that there is plenty of scarlet fever and other illnesses throughout the county but that diphtheria is becoming non-existent.

Director of city finance, Albert Hoyland said today that in a check of the states where cities defaulted on bonds he found that 150 cities in Florida had defaulted and 144 had done likewise in North Carolina. In New Jersey 124 turned thumbs down but in Pennsylvania only 13 cities have defaulted. "It is gratifying to the city council here to know that our city is not one of the 13 that has defaulted. Both principal and interest on our bonds are paid to date with a balance in the sinking fund of $147,848.97" Hoyland said which will be welcome news to those who hold New Castle bonds.

When the city police department secured cruiser cars it was said that they would be used for almost constant patrol duty. They patrol sections at different periods between 8 a. m. and 4 p. m., from 4 p. m. until 8 a. m., they are in operation continuously. Two of the three travels an average of approximately 100 miles during those hours. Here is the report of the different police cars and motorcycle for the month of January: No. 1 cruiser (South Side) 3,297 miles; No. 2 (North Side) 4,061 miles; No. 3 (Detectives cruiser) 848 miles; Buick (patrol wagon) 687 miles and the motorcycle, 866 miles. The cruisers have taken over the duties of the patrolman. When notified by radio they can quickly reach any trouble scene in their district.

Cummings Happy Over Decision

Attorney General Congratulated by Roosevelt, Plaintiffs Refuse Comment

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Attorney General Cummings who argued the government's position in the gold cases, was beaming and smiling when he appeared at the White House Monday to receive Mr. Roosevelt's congratulations.
"We won all down the line," he said, in response to a question.

Refuses Comment.
New York, Feb. 19.—When informed of the decision of the U. S. supreme court in his suit against the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, Norman C. Norman, plaintiff in one of the famous litigations involving the gold clause, Monday refused to discuss the matter until he had time to review the official decision.
"I can't feel free to discuss the matter until I am in possession of the decision," said Norman, when told of his defeat.
"I must say it is too bad I lost but we'll see what can be done about it later on."

Norman is a member of a jewelry firm.
Nortz Silent.
New York, Feb. 19.—F. Eugene Nortz, prominent coffee merchant and government opponent in the gold clause case, "took it on the chin" with a smile Monday when the supreme court ruled against him.
"There isn't much for me to say," Nortz observed. "When a fellow gets licked it's best for him to stay quiet."

"I'm just going to get a copy of the paper, read the decision and let it go at that."
Nortz surrendered gold certificates amounting to $106,300 face value to the treasury and, because of dollar devaluation, demanded $170,634 in currency.
The treasury refused payment and the high court Monday upheld its action.

elimination of traveling and other small incidental expenses paid by the state for 218 legislators, the reduction in the cost of printing resulting from elimination of one house, the cost involved in the election of the 218 legislators, you can readily see that the net savings will approximate more than $1,000,000.

Cites England
Rohlfing pointed out U. S. Senator George Norris, whose advocacy of the unicameral system was approved by the voters of Nebraska at the last general election, believes that the bi-cameral system is an "historical accident."
Rohlfing said: "We copied England, and yet England has today virtually adopted the unicameral system. The power of the House of Lords has been so diminished that in effect the House of Commons is the sole legislative body."
The state of Delaware's house of representatives is now considering a bill that would abolish one of the houses—and it may be the second state to follow the unicameral system.

Latin America In Free Port Race

(International News Service)
SAN JUAN, P. R., Feb. 19.—A new city is rising on the coast of South America to compete in the recently opened "free port" race of Central and South American republics.
At Bahia de Turiamo, Venezuela, the government is erecting customs warehouses and preparing harbor facilities to attract cargoes in transit from all parts of the world. South and Central American ports. In transit cargoes will be exempt from customs charges, but the mass of reshipment business is expected to give Venezuela a new and thriving seaport.
Lately Panama established itself as free port territory and intends facilitating the handling of freight bound to the great southern continent. For many years the Dutch island of Curacao has been a shipping center where hundreds of steamships, numerous shipping office clerks and the balance of the population of one good sized town has subsided upon the in-transit business attracted to the free port.

Old Gold Buyers Did Big Business

Old Heirlooms Sacrificed By People Fearing Adverse Gold Decision

DECISION PROVED FEARS UNFOUNDED

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Vain fears parted thousands from cherished family heirlooms wrought in gold.
On hearing the Supreme Court decision upholding the constitutionality of the Roosevelt monetary policies, New York gold dealers revealed that their business recently had been—as one dealer put it—"colossal."
Men and women, who for sentimental reasons, had kept articles of jewelry all through the depression, parted with them through fear that the "highest gold price in 100 years" would break—a fear that proved unfounded.
Wedding rings came in floods in response to advertisements by some gold dealers based on the possibility of an adverse decision.
The marital bands weighed more than any other type of jewelry when piled together, one dealer reported.
Bridework produced one of the largest volumes. Dealers did not think, however, that the excitement over the Supreme Court hearings on the "gold cases" had robbed many persons of the use of their teeth.
Most of the plates were of an old-fashioned type which their owners had replaced long ago.
The New York area produced four times as much scrap gold as the rest of the country put together, one dealer pointed out. So great has been the interest in selling gold at the high price set by President Roosevelt that America's scrap gold industry last year produced about $100,000,000 more gold than the country's gold mines, he said.

GOLD DECISION SIGNAL FOR MANY NEW BILLS

Liberal Bills To Be Presented

Authors Of New Bills Are Encouraged By Supreme Court Decision

MORE PROBLEMS FOR DEMOCRATIC LEADERS

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The Supreme Court's decision in the gold cases served as a signal in the senate today for the release of a flood of liberal legislation, touching public works, currency, silver, taxes, labor and the bonus.

While the decision itself did not inspire the legislation, the action of the high court in holding the gold laws constitutional encouraged the authors of other liberal bills. It also cleared the atmosphere on Capitol Hill.

News Bills In View

Among the bills in course of introduction were:

1. A new bonus bill, by Senator Tydings (D) of Maryland, proposing new cash payments of adjusted compensation service certificates.

2. A new labor disputes bill, by Senator Wagner (D) of New York, outlawing company unions and giving the national labor relations board real power to settle industrial controversies.

3. A bill by Senator Wheeler (D) of Montana, proposing a graduated scale of federal taxes on the net incomes of corporations in excess of $3,000,000 a year. The maximum tax would be 25 per cent of all net income above $50,000,000 a year.

4. An amendment to the pending work relief bill, by Senator Follette (R) of Wisconsin, doubling the $4,000,000 appropriation for public works.

5. An amendment to the same bill by Senator Thomas (D) of Oklahoma.

homa, proposing mandatory expansion of the currency through issuance of silver certificates, with mandatory silver purchases.

6. An amendment to that bill by Wheeler, proposing to pay for the $4,000,000,000 work relief through issuance of U. S. treasury notes.

The LaFollette, Thomas, and Wheeler amendments only added to the administration's troubles over the huge $4,880,000,000 work relief bill. Senate inflationists were supporting the Thomas and Wheeler amendments.

The administration already has two major fights on its hands. One is organized labor drive to compel the government to pay prevailing wage rates on all relief projects. The other is the fight by Senators Glass (D) of Virginia and Adams (D) of Colorado, to substitute continuation of direct relief for the work program with an appropriation of $2,880,000,000.

Memorial Program By Sons Of Veterans

Memory Of Lincoln And Washington Honored At Meeting Last Night

George Washington and Abraham Lincoln were honored in a memorial program last night by Sons of Union Veterans, Oscar L. Jackson Camp 249. The meeting was in charge of Frank Schetrom, who led those present in singing the "Star Spangled Banner."

Following this a presentation of the colors was made by K Company Sons of Veterans Reserve. An opening prayer was then given by Chaplain Sanford. The drum corps then played two stirring patriotic numbers.

The first speaker of the evening, John Powers, was then called upon to address the gathering, his speech which was enjoyed by all was portraying the lives of both Washington and Lincoln.

Master Hammond rendered several song selections after which representatives of the Auxiliary, Daughters of Union Veterans, Relief Corps, Ladies of the G. A. R. were called upon to speak. All of these organizations were well represented by their members. Other speakers of the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Holise, Mrs. Crooks, Miss Pearl Cook, Ralph M. Campbell and George Wyman. The meeting was then turned over to the commander, George Partington.

The meeting was closed by the singing of "America" and a prayer by the chaplain.

A group of the members of K Company then put on an Old Virginia Reel, and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

PROBE GRAFT IN PWA PROJECT

French Brechensler

Chester Kirberg

Charging that certain PWA officials and engineers, Texas politicians and lumbermen conspired to use 200 miles of California redwood pipe in a $4,843,000 irrigation project in Wilacy county, Texas, that called for no pipe; two special investigators for the government are shown in Washington as they opened the graft inquiry. A special district grand jury will hear the findings of French Brechensler, left, and Chester Kirberg, special investigators.

News Service Again Proves Its Accuracy

No Erroneous Bulletins Sent Out By I. N. S. On Gold Decisions

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 19.—The fast handling and accurate interpretation of the supreme court's decisions in the gold cases by International News Service resulted today in a stream of congratulatory messages from editors who "got it first and got it right."

As in the Hauptmann case, the International News Service sent no erroneous flashes. Every flash was correct.

Because of the importance of the cases, involving billions of dollars, and the world-wide interest, International News Service took elaborate precautions against any error. Men handling the story were under instructions to "get it first if you can, but above all else get it right."

A private telephone line was installed into the capitol building, connecting the I. N. S. offices in the National Press building with a booth just outside the door leading into the court. From the time the justices mounted the bench at 12 noon, that line was kept open.

Inside the crowded little courtroom itself was William S. Neal, veteran supreme court reporter for International News Service. Just outside the door of the court was William K. Hutchinson, chief of the I. N. S. capitol staff. Inside the booth was Kingsbury Smith, who has reported many big stories for I. N. S. at home and abroad. At the other end of the open wire was George R. Holmes, chief of the I. N. S. Washington Bureau, to take the flashes and write the bulletins and leads. The copy thus had to pass through the hands of four experienced newspaper men before reaching the main wires—a four-fold precaution against mistakes.

Ministers Hear Dr. Grant Fisher

"Jottings From My Notebook" was the topic of an interesting address by Dr. Grant Fisher on Monday morning before the Ministerial Association in the First Presbyterian church. Dr. Fisher was introduced by Dr. S. E. Irvine.

The meeting was presided over by Dr. S. B. Copeland, vice president of the organization. Rev. C. H. Hauger was in charge of the devotionals. In the course of the morning the body voiced its approval over the fact that The New Castle News has not printed liquor advertisements in its columns. A vote of appreciation also went to the program committee for its splendid efforts toward the presentation of superior programs.

"It's better far to love and be poor, than to be rich with an empty heart"—Morris.

Murder With Germs.
How Fascism Starts.
The Atom. Absolute Zero.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

YOU HAVE read about "war with germs" in the next great outbreak.

India proves that it could be done. At Alipore two are condemned to death, convicted of "germ murder." As rich Amerendra Nath Pandey walked along the street, he felt a prick, a sharp stab. He cried out. A germ poisoner had injected plague germs into his blood.

Amerendra died. His murderers were his step-brother and his doctor. Two other doctors, accused, were acquitted. A fell-organized germ war could be disagreeable, distributing disease germs above great cities and in reservoirs, from planes.

OTHER KINDS of war, nearer home, are also disagreeable. A union of public utilities employees warns New York that it proposes to cut off all light from streets and houses in Brooklyn, Queens and Manhattan, south of Fourteenth street. That would be good news for burglars, uncomfortable for citizens.

A new union of elevator operators promises New York to shut off 600 men, the up all elevators, shut off heat, close stores, hotels, theaters, office buildings and cripple apartment houses.

Unions consist of organized men, cities of disorganized masses of citizens. Politicians fear well-organized bodies, pay little attention to forgetful, dis-organized masses of citizens.

Some day someone may organize the citizens. Mussolini did in Italy. Hitler in Germany. Stalin in Russian. Kemal in Turkey. That is called fascism, which follows the demonstrated inability of the people to protect themselves against well organized minorities.

One pleasant feature of fascisms is its refusal to recognize the rights of union labor, or let its leaders go on collecting dues. Under Mussolini, a labor leader gets a pick and shovel, no traveling expenses, no union salary.

AT LEYDEN, in Holland, scientists have produced a degree of cold said to approach within one-fifth of a degree of absolute zero.

A gigantic electro-magnet, in combination with liquid helium, produces the lowest temperature ever known on earth.

The lowest possible degree of cold, the absolute zero, would be minus 273 degrees Centigrade, or minus 459.6 Fahrenheit. At least science thinks so. It used to call the atom "smallest fragment of matter."

Science needs "absolute zero," to help in tearing apart the atom, now known to be a miniature solar system.

DEEP DOWN in our sun, temperatures running as high as forty million degrees Centigrade, also tear the atom to pieces. Electrons shooting out from the sun's disintegrated atoms provide our light and heat.

It is a complicated universe, unnecessarily so, it seems to some of us. When Jeans and Eddington tell you "the sun sends out and loses two hundred and fifty thousand tons of solid material every minute," one million tons every four minutes, you say that it is too much.

Interesting that extreme heat or cold, able to destroy life, can also rip the atom apart.

But cold cannot destroy the lowest forms of life, and that made it possible for primitive life to come here through the ether's absolute zero, after our earth had cooled off sufficiently.

IT HAS been customary at executions in New Jersey state prison, to admit relatives of a murdered man, that they may witness the killing of the murderer; very considerate, if relatives of one murdered really desire to see the murderer as he sits in the chair, straining against the straps and frothing behind the mask.

It is safe to predict that Col. Lindbergh will reject the invitation to see Hauptmann put to death for the kidnapping and murder of his child. That is probably not Col. Lindbergh's idea of a pleasant sight.

THE VANDERBILTS, Astors, Goets and other old-fashioned Americans, led this nation into the present era of MILLIONS. Before their day a man with $100,000 was "rich," had a house with a cupola on it, and a trotting horse.

Then, along came the big war, and the NRA and led us upward and onward into the realm of BILLIONS. Less than a billion is small change, now, in the government mind.

We all drew one deep breath, got used to billions, and now Senator Huey Long, of Louisiana, taking us by the hand, gently leads us into the TRILLION era. What good friend of the "peepul" will raise that bid and move us on to the quadrillion stage?

SENATOR HUEY LONG'S trillion is not imaginary. He tells the "circumambient air" via the radio, that while he will let the man who wants a great deal of money own as much as three million dollars, but no more, he is determined that every American shall have $15,000. That will be given to "each and all," at once.

Instantly we step up into the trillion stratosphere. Your little pencil will show you that fifteen thousand dollars for everybody in the United States would mean one trillion eight hundred and seventy-five billion dollars, or if you prefer, $1,875,000,000,000. The odd eight hundred and seventy-five billions are five times as much as the country is worth. But have we not printing presses?

When that stage is reached, we can say to Europe:

"Keep your old ten billion dollars. What do you think we care about ten billions?"

THERE ARE more than ten million men still out of work in the United States, a good many old-fashioned Americans saying:

"In these days you don't know what you've got, or if you do know, you don't know what it's worth."

The "share the wealth" ignoramus would immediately destroy all values.

We have some interesting times and events ahead of us. But the dust will settle, and the usual thing will happen. Intelligence will rule, idiosyncrasy will dig its own grave, and the average condition will improve. Men must be very foolish, before they can be wise.

Harlansburg Male Chorus Organizes

Male Chorus To Meet Each Monday Evening At Harlansburg School House For Rehearsals

At a meeting held Monday night in the Harlansburg school house, a group of residents from Harlansburg and surrounding vicinities, who have been accustomed to assembling frequently, decided to organize and arrange a definite program.

They will be identified as the Harlansburg Male Chorus, and will hold meetings every Monday night in the school house at 8 o'clock to rehearse. Officers were elected with the following results: President, Reed McCullough; vice president, Nick McCracken; secretary, Jack Turner; treasurer, Willis Kneram; musical director, Delbert Eakin; pianist, Miss Esther Heberling.

Already, plans are formulated for appearances in the very near future. The group being able to produce some real harmony, have established a record name for themselves. On different occasions, they have been guests on programs, and all indications lead to more continuous appearances.

If any yolk should get into the whites when separating them, the whites will not beat up stiffly. Remove the yolk with a piece of eggshell, as the edges are sharper than a spoon. Or take a piece of clean cloth, wet the corner, and gently touch the pieces of yolk and they will come out.

Plans To Give Relief Boards More Authority

State Relief Administrator Hopes To Decentralize State Relief System

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 19.—Decentralization of the state's relief distribution system to give more authority to local boards was the policy which State Relief Administrator Robert L. Johnson was committed today as the senate delayed final action on the Batchelor bill to return to local poor boards complete authority in handling aid to the needy.

"The policy I will follow will be to have strong, capable committees in each locality, and authority and responsibility in the handling of relief will be more and more delegated to the district boards," Johnson said in a radio address.

"In strengthening these committees, where needed, I have enlisted the aid of about 400 prominent persons in each locality to assist me in selecting a non-partisan, unbiased and capable board of at least nine members. These nine members will divide themselves into three committees. The first committee will have charge of complaints. The second will have charge of personnel working for the emergency relief board. The other three members will constitute a committee to promote efficiency and economy."

Johnson revealed that 435,558 families, or 1,894,000 persons, are receiving relief at an average cost of 38 cents per day per person. He promised a thorough campaign to rid relief rolls of persons not needing relief, and added:

"The strictest economy is necessary, and I believe that the decentralization program of placing authority and responsibility in the hands of local boards will tend to more economic operations."

Another $5,000,000 federal relief allotment to Pennsylvania assured funds for continuing aid to needy families for about another week. The checks, received by Gov. George H. Earle, brought to $15,000,000 the total given the state by the federal government for February needs. Johnson said he was "hopeful" another $5,000,000 would be given the state to complete the needs for the month.

Air Conditioning Discussion Heard

Mahoning-Shenango Engineers Society Has Meeting On Monday Night

Meeting in the basement assembly room of the Elks home on North Mill street, the Mahoning-Shenango Engineers society heard Air Conditioning discussed Monday evening by an expert, Jerry Waters of Pittsburgh.

Describing air conditioning as the "control of movement temperature and humidity of air," Mr. Waters launched into a technical discussion of the methods by which air conditioning may be installed.

For the present time the true air conditioning is something beyond the reach of householders in ordinary houses he declared. The machinery necessary to such an installation would cost too much for the present. In later years Mr. Waters prophesied that homes and office buildings alike would be air conditioned.

Carl Leis, president of the organization presided at the opening of the meeting and after committee reports were heard, asked William Clark to introduce the speaker which he did. Following Mr. Waters' talk a program of entertainment was carried out under the direction of Edward Davenport. A buffet luncheon closed the evening.

Guests In Auto Sue Driver For $15,000 Damages

John A. Haupt And A. B. Fleisgarten File Suits Against George Truby

Two guests in the automobile of George Truby of this city, John A. Haupt of Sharon, and A. B. Fleisgarten of New Castle, filed suits against Truby at the prothonotary's office this morning for injuries sustained in an accident.

Haupt is asking $10,000 damages and Fleisgarten, $5,000. The accident happened on the state highway between Clintonville and Barkleyville on December 6, 1934.

In Haupt's statement of claim he alleges that the road was icy. Truby, he claims, was driving at a high rate of speed, considering the condition of the road. He had driven up a hill and reached the top when he struck a particularly icy place. Truby quit feeding gas, according to the statement, and put on the brakes, causing the car to skid into a telephone pole.

As the car struck the pole Haupt was thrown out, and the car rolled over on top of him. One eye was cut, a hole cut through his upper lip, his artificial teeth broken, his skull fractured, resulting in concussion of the brain, and his jaw, spine and other organs injured. In addition, a bottle of acid which was in the car broke and the acid burned his face, leaving ugly scars. After the physicians had rendered first aid he was brought to the home of A. B. Fleisgarten of this city, where he was laid up for some time.

Fleisgarten, the other guest in the car, received numerous cuts and bruises, and internal injuries which affected his heart. Both he and Haupt claim permanent injuries.

Ellwood High In Last Section 3 Game Tonight

Ambridge High To Ring Down Curtain Of W. P. I. A. L. Competition At Lincoln Gym

ELLWOODIANS OUT FOR THIRD VICTORY

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 19.—Section three basketball competition for Ellwood City high will come to a close this evening at Lincoln gym with the invasion of Ambridge high for a return contest.

It will be an inspired Ellwood high team that the invaders will meet. The locals have finally hit their real stride, having won two games in a row. They are primed for the Rubenstein boys who gave the locals a beating at Ambridge. The Ellwoodians are especially desirous of closing the league season with a victory. With victories over Butler and New Brighton the locals will be a hard nut to crack.

The Benedictmen finished brushing up on their attack yesterday and will be ready to present a varied offense this evening, which they feel will take over the visitors. Bill Cole, sensational Ellwood forward, who has averaged 14 points for the last seven games, will be a marked man tonight. The locals will feature a fast passing attack.

The reserves of both schools will play a preliminary game at 7 o'clock. The main game will follow immediately after.

The probable lineup:

Ellwood City	Ambridge
Robuck (c)	Spadafore
Cole	E. Sapp
Hughes	Grebo
Kraynak	Malen
Luxenberg	Handgis

Grovers-Thiel Clash Tonight

Grove City Is Underdog In Battle With Veteran Thiel Quintet

GROVE CITY, Feb. 19.—Coach Bob Thorn rested his Grove City squad today after a strenuous weekend at Bethany and W. & J. believing the lay-off will aid the Groves in their difficult assignment with Thiel at Greenville Tuesday evening. The Mercer county opponents have developed one of the keenest rivalries in the district in the past decade, and there is little to choose between the teams this season.

With two freshmen in the lineup, Coach Thorn has found the most effective combination. Since "Swede" Swanson has been starting regularly at center, the offense has improved, although the defense leaves much to be desired. Johnny Chatham, freshman forward, has hit a scoring pace that netted six field goals in each of two recent games. "Buck" Tomko, veteran, continues to lead the parade, with a season average of 12 points per game.

Sports Fans Favor Midget Auto Races

Eight Thousand Fans Attend First Race Of Its Kind

(International News Service) ST. LOUIS, Feb. 19.—Midget automobile racing has found favor with sports fans here, it is evident from the turnout of 8,000 at the sport's debut recently at the Arena.

The speedy little vari-colored cars spinning around the dirt track provided the customers on opening night with quite a kick. While the racers do not attain the high speeds possible in outdoor racing, the smallness of the machines creates an illusion that makes the 40 miles they reach on the straightaway seem like 70 to the onlooker.

The sport is not exactly "kiddie" stuff either, for two drivers were sent to the hospital during the first night with injuries received in spills on the unbanked turns.

THE SPORT PATROL

By JOHN J. MAHER, JR.

"perfect" records are in the books now—the 46.2 seconds for the 400 meters made at the 1932 Olympics by Bill Carr, and the shotput mark of 57 feet one inch, held by the 270-pound Jack Torrance. Michigan State relay teams won six races and finished second 12 times in 20 starts during the indoor track season of 1934.

Ne-Ca-Ros Drop To Humbert Five

Humbert quintet handed the Ne-Ca-Ros a 36 to 20 upset last night at the Humbert hall in an exhibition game. The Humberts led throughout the entire battle. E. Gennock, Merando and Zingaro were the high point men for the Humberts, with Zuk and Cabas the best for the losers.

In the preliminary game the Humbert Reserves lost their first game of the season to the Senior Hi-Y team, 24 to 17.

Irving "Buzz" Bartling of the Michigan State college baseball squad has received at least seven offers from big league scouts but has declined them all. He has two more seasons in college. Charley Hornbostel, star middle-distance runner, hopes to take up graduate studies in Boston after the current track season. Art (The Great) Shires may not be much of a fighter, but apparently he isn't the worst in the business. On Feb. 11, he knocked out a certain Joe Daley of Chicago in the third round. That was Art's second fight of his recent comeback; he lost the first one via the knockout route. Art Strutt, Duquesne football star, has been placed with the Portsmouth, Middle Atlantic league, team by the Pittsburgh baseball club. Art is a third baseman.

Referee—Dom "Gabby" DeCaprio.

Compulsory health insurance is in effect in Great Britain, Germany and France, yet it has not been shown that the health of the people of either of these countries has improved under the system.

Scald and dry your orange peelings, then grind them into a coarse powder. They can be used to flavor puddings, cakes, sauces. Lemon peels can be used in the same way.

Minority Opinion In Momentous Gold Cases Scores New Deal Policy

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The government won a smashing victory today in the long-awaited gold cases in the Supreme Court—but by the narrowest possible margin, 5 to 4.

A bare majority of the court upheld the right of congress to appropriate the gold clause in $75,000,000 in private bonds, and held that the holders of Liberty Bonds and gold certificates, having suffered no loss in the devaluation of the dollar, cannot demand payment in gold or its equivalent in the devalued paper dollar, $1.69 to $1.

Read Majority Decisions

Chief Justice Hughes read the majority decisions, and was supported by Justices Brandeis, Stone, Cardozo and Roberts.

Associate Justice McReynolds, long noted for his conservatism on the bench, read the dissenting opinion, and was supported by Justices VanDevanter, Sutherland and Butler.

Justice Stone differed with the conclusions in one case, but supported the majority in its verdict, who had demanded either payment in gold or its equivalent in paper money, at the new rate, for his fourth Liberty Bonds.

The 5-to-4 decision was revealed after the reading of the majority opinions had been concluded.

It was a familiar division, 5 to 4, for the court has so divided on a number of important issues, with usually the same justices on the different sides of the question.

Dissenting Opinion

One striking sentence in Justice McReynolds' dissenting opinion was: "The constitution, as many of us have known it, is gone."

Justice McReynolds, who delivered the dissenting opinion, in a sombre, firm voice, declared there is no limit to the power of congress.

Nevertheless, he said, can wise men make contracts to protect themselves against depreciation of currency.

His voice rose as he got into his opinion.

An elder of the court, he spoke as one issuing a final warning to the people that their constitution is being destroyed. He scornfully declared that the government of the

Quota Club Hears Major C. M. Culp

National Defense Is Discussed At Meeting On Monday Evening

(International News Service)

At the usual weekly dinner meeting Monday evening in the Elks club, the Quota club heard a most interesting and informative talk by Major C. M. Culp, Inf., D. O. L., headquarters 98th Division, Pittsburgh, on the subject of "National Defense."

Major Culp was introduced by Colonel D. H. McQuiston, president Shenango Valley chapter of Reserve Officers Association. Major Culp explained defense mechanisms in the United States, pointing out the fact that the first line of defense is the navy, including the air forces, and second line of defense is the army.

The army includes three components: First, the regular army of 120,000 men, 80,000 of whom are located in the United States. The entire regular army is only three times the size of the New York City police force, which force is expected to police and protect 3,000,000 people. Three times that number are expected to defend 120,000,000. The regular army of the United States could be placed in the Yale Bowl.

The second division of the army is the National Guard of whom there are some 200,000. In the event of war, the regular army would be expected to hold defense lines until the National Guard could be mobilized, which would take about three months. The third division of our army is the organized reserve force of about 89,000 men.

Major Culp declared our national defense forces are inadequate for proper protection of our civilian population in the event of war. This inadequacy of a proper defense force can be laid to two causes: First, our congressmen are interested in procuring those measures which have a direct beneficial, economic, and political effect upon their own district and constituents; therefore they lose sight of the greater national need; second— is the anti American propaganda of pacifists and "Parlor Pinkies."

Major Culp was brought to New Castle Quota in celebration of National Defense Week.

At the regular dinner meeting of Quota Monday evening, February 25, Attorney W. W. Braham will speak on "George Washington."

American investments in Poland are over $100,000,000.
